MONDAY, November 15, 1773.

Messieurs EDES & GILL.

IN yours of the 9th of August, we observed an extract of a letter from Bristol, eastward, setting forth, the cutting down and destroying a meeting-house there. The following may be depended upon as an impartial account of the affair.

The inhabitants of the said town of Bristol, not agreeing since their being incorporated where to build a meeting house or houses, about two years past the said town chose a committee from the neighboring towns, to advise how many meeting houses were proper to accommodate the inhabitants, and where.—Who reported three, and the places.—

1772. March meeting, but few attending, the snow being deep, the party present, voted to build but one house, and that in a place in the woods, remote three miles from the settlements and ten miles from a great part of the inhabitants, and voted the money sufficient for the frame which they forthwith erected, and to make all fore tacks on some boards, to the value of nine pounds more than they had voted to be raised to prevent (as is supposed) its being taken down.

March 1773. At a full meeting, after debating the matter, it was voted by a great majority, that there should be three houses built agreable to the vote of the said committee, and that the frame should be taken down, and a committee was accordingly chosen for that purpose, viz. Alexander Nickells, Esq; Deacon Jones, and Mr. Robert Sprout.

At May meeting a party had it inserted in the warrant to reconsider the above vote, it being a full meeting it was voted by a great majority, not to reconsider it.

On the 9th June. The said committee attended the business and employed therefor about 40 hands, and unscrewed what rigging they could get, seven miles to the said frame, it being three miles in the woods remote from the body of the settlements, the said committee and company in general carried their provisions to encamp there one or two nights.

The committee then proceeded on their work and took down part of the roof, but finding that the rigging they had, was insufficient for the business; they sent to Mr. Henry Hunter (who had been of the committee for setting up the said frame) for the use of the rigging which he had in his hands, that he used in setting up the said frame, and offered to satisfy him therefor, but were refused. The said committee then considering as they were now on the spot and that the expence of procuring rigging from Boston, and again collecting the said hands, would be attended with more expence than the damage would be of cutting the side posts, and pulling it down, the said frame being so large that it would not be much hurt for one of the small frames intended by the said committee. Then the said committee thought proper to cut the side posts, and pulled down the frame as carefully as possible.

Alexander Nickells, Esq; being desirous that the frame should be removed according to vote, offered the disaffected party, in public, to make good the damage of the said frame, and transport it too at his own expence, which the said party refused. On which the said party called a meeting for damages, and insisted on a vote, which passed in the negative.

As for said Nickells being armed, he carried with him a pistol, purely for shooting fire in the woods, and that was all the arms in the company that we know of.

By Order of the Selectmen,
William Hunt, Town-Clerk.

JOHN IVORY.

ALL Persons indebted to Mr. Williams for the NEWS PAPERS, and Carrying, are desired to pay for the same by the first of December, to their humble Servant, WILLIAM WILLIAMS.

Messieurs EDES & GILL,

AS the public have several times of late been favored through the channel of your paper, with accounts of the public news papers with accounts of the muster and reviews of such, and such a regiment of militia in the province.—I have been led to the following observations, viz.

Firstly, What is the end and design of forming a militia?—is it not this, namely, that by discipline (and forming to some degree soldiers) a certain part of the community they may become both as to offence and defence, the guard of the state.—And in order to their answering this important design,

Secondly, It is of the last importance (if any real advantage is ever to be expected from them) that they be taught the use, end, and design of discipline, as it respects subordination, the manual exercise and the manœuvres—as from the first arises that strict attention so absolutely essential in soldiers, from the second the dexterous and agile handling of their arms in the most useful and expeditious motion—from the third the changing their position with the utmost exactness and expedition; as circumstances may render it necessary in the field of battle, and the importance of each in action by the most lively representations should be impressed on their minds, and every thing superfluous or dangerous should be exploded—from hence then,

Thirdly, Since such vast improvements have been made in the art of war,—and so little time alotted to the militia (only four days annually) to acquire military knowledge and skill in the use of arms.—It is highly expedient that the best modes and methods of discipline should be practised—and such in special as are calculated for expedition and real service, and in order that the condition of the militia and the proficiency which the officers and soldiers have made in their duty, be from time to time fully known.

Fourthly, Reviews become necessary,—at which a few complimental salutes and simple motions are by no means sufficient.—The regiment which is at any time reviewed, should rather exhibit their attainments in the manual exercise,—the firings, and of these a variety,—And also their exactness in performing their manœuvres, which should also be displayed in variety—without this how shall the reviewing general determine whether the troops reviewed by him, be properly disciplined and fit to take the field or not,—or by his own view see what cautions,—new orders or regulations are requisite which are some of the principle advantages that can result from a review, which for the most part is attended with no small expence.

If I am not mistaken in the foregoing observations, gentlemen and spectators who have attended at the late reviews, may determine what end has, or can be answered by them,—as they may have come up to,—or fallen short of the proper design of their institution.

A MILITARY COUNTRYMAN.

BALTIMORE, October 16.

Yesterday arrived the Ship Prince of Wales, Captain Morrison, from Londonderry, with about 200 Passengers, which make no less than 3500 that left that Port only within one Year, and come to seek in our back extensive and happy Territory, peaceable and comfortable Residence, which those loyal and industrious People could not enjoy in their native Land, from the ill-judged Oppression exercised over that sinking Country by Great-Britain.——Let the deplorable State of this once prosperous Land fill Americans with Apprehensions, and rouse them with animated Warmth to resist every Attempt of Parliamentary Tyranny under what specious or plausible Pretext or Guise soever it may be offered—for, the smallest Restriction of our Liberty admitted, ALL WILL BE LOST.

Extract of a Letter to a Gentleman in this Town, received by Captain Morrison, from Londonderry, dated August 1, 1773.

"As you cannot be Strangers on your Side the Water to the general Commotions which affect this Kingdom, some Particulars thereof may not be unacceptable to you.—The Stagnation of Commerce occasioned by a Resolve of the Merchants to take no Gold Coin under full Weight, is very prejudicially and universally felt; no less than the Amount of £.20 000 of this Specie has been already cut to Pieces at the Bank; We hope, however, that the Result of an Address now framing for the Lord Lieutenant and Privy Council will give us Relief. The Distress of our Manufacturers in many Branches is truly afflictive; notwithstanding which, so great is the Propensity to Luxury, that foreign Manufactures are in great Request as ever. Several Thousand of Weavers, in Dublin, have assembled and paraded the Streets, threatning Destruction to the Venders and Wearers of any Commodity, but such as is manufactured in this Kingdom; and, to fill the Measure of our Woes, a Stamp-Act Scheme is, with some Certainty, talked of, nay, it is beyond a Doubt that the Heads of it have been long formed, but kept back as a dernier Resource. To this Species of Oppression we are determined to shew a warm Opposition; in which, we cannot be better governed, than by adopting a Conduct similar to that of the Colonies, when the nauseous Pill was offered to them for Digestion; for, weighing the whole of their Conduct, at that trying Crisis, it must be acknowledged laudable, and such, as has deservedly done them high Honour, and will, at some future Period, give Resplendency to a Page in the Annals of America."

By a Person just arrived from Red Stone, we hear, that the Shawanese and Delaware Indians have lately killed two White Men to the Westward of that Place.—The Particulars of this Affair we are not able to communicate.

NEW LONDON, November 5.

The following Resolve passed the present General-Assembly.

RESOLVED, by this Assembly, That the Select Men, in the respective Towns, in this Colony, at, or before the General Election in May next shall take, and transmit to his Honor the Governor, a particular and exact Account of all the Persons in their respective Towns, as well Negroes and Indians as white Persons; distinguishing the Number of those, who are under the Age of Twenty Years, from those who are above that Age, their Sexes, and whether married or single.

And that the Colonel of each Regiment of Militia, shall also within the Time aforesaid, transmit to his Honor the Governor, the exact Number of Officers and Soldiers in his said Regiment; thereby to enable his Honor, to prepare a complete Answer to a Letter lately received from the Earl of Dartmouth, his Majesty's Secretary of State, for the American Department.

And that this Act be forthwith Printed and distributed by the Representatives in the present Assembly.

BOSTON, November 25.

LAST Thursday an order was issued from the Captain General of this province to Col. Hancock, of his Excellency a company of Cadets, signifying that as the company under his command had heretofore signalized themselves on a necessary occasion,* his Excellency thought it proper that he should summon each one of the company to be in readiness, in arms, at such place as he (the colonel) in said think fit, for the purpose of aiding the civil magistrate in the preservation of the peace. We hear that the Lieutenant Colonel and the Major of the company have declared that they will be ready to obey the summons of their colonel; but it is very much questioned whether Mr. Hancock will think himself obliged, or even authorised by any law of this province, to pay the least regard to so very extraordinary a Mandate.

(2) vid Act pa. 53, Vol. (3). vid page 475. vol. 3 & vid Index under Tea

To assist our Readers, who live remote from this Metropolis, in conjecturing the probable cause of this military movement, we would inform them, that the East India Company in London, by reason of the great decrease of the importation of English Tea into America, (and indeed the total stoppage of it in the Southern governments) in consequence of the non-importation agreement, have become strong sollicitors for the repeal of the act of the British Parliament, by which a Tribute is exacted on us for every pound of TEA, against our consent, petitions and remonstrances. The Ministry, resolved against such repeal, and also with a view of pacifying them, after the most violent infringements that have been made on their rights as a chartered company, procured the passing an act of parliament last May, whereby the company are allowed to export their Teas themselves (which they were before restrained from doing) in such quantities as the Lords of the Treasury should think proper. This Tea is upon its exportation from London to be discharged, as a further encouragement to the company, from certain duties which by a former act were paid there; but the duty of three pence sterling on the pound is to be required, as usual, on its importation here, agreeable to the obnoxious act of parliament, made for the purpose of raising a Revenue in America, which still remains in force. It is easy to see that this measure is calculated, and no doubt designed to increase and establish the Revenue, which is a favorite object with administration. The cities of Philadelphia, New-York and Boston, to which places the cargoes of Tea are destined, are greatly alarm'd at the measure, and resolv'd, if possible, to prevent its taking effect. The Citizens of Philadelphia met at their Coffee House, and voted, that "it is the duty of every American to oppose" "this violent attack upon the Liberties of America;" and "that whoever shall directly or indirectly countenance this attempt, or in any wise aid or abet in unloading, receiving or vending the Tea sent or to be sent out by the East India Company, while it remains subject to the payment of a duty, is an enemy to his Country." A great number of the inhabitants also of this and the neighbouring towns met at Liberty-Tree, and there voted that the Tea Commissioners by neglecting to appear and resign their appointment, according to a notification said to have been sent to them the Night before, had discovered themselves to be enemies of the country, and would meet with their resentment. This vote was carried to the gentlemen then at the Warehouse of Mr. Richard Clarke who was said to be one of them, by a committee who were accompanied by many of the people; and it was said to be received with such Hauteur, if we may borrow the expression, as irritated to so great a degree, that though the intent was to leave the place immediately, and the people were going off, a small part of them returned to the Warehouse; but they dispersed, and no damage was done. This happened on Wednesday the Third Instant.

vid Pa. 391.

On the next day it was given out by one of the tea commissioners, as it had been also by several who were supposed to be their friends, that upon proper application made to them they would resign their appointments; upon which some gentlemen thought it best to have a meeting of the town legally assembled, which was had accordingly on Friday following; at which meeting there were at least a thousand inhabitants, perhaps in every regard as respectable as ever assembled in Faneuil Hall. And after decent applications to Richard Clarke, Esq; and son, Benjamin Faneuil, Esq; and the two sons of governor Hutchinson, supposed to be the persons appointed to receive and sell the dutied tea, and after waiting two days in hopes that for the sake of the peace of the town they would resign their appointment, the town thought themselves necessitated to vote their respective answers unsatisfactory and daringly affrontive to them, and the meeting was dissolved.

vid Pa. 391.

* On the 26th of August 1765.

During the week past the town has been quiet; no person, that we have heard of, having attempted the smallest affront to either of the Tea Commissioners. It is true, the minds of persons of all ranks among the people are greatly uneasy, that they should thus persist in a refusal to satisfy the request of the community, which they ought to suppose to be a reasonable request, because 19 twentieths of the community are fully of opinion, that a final refusal will be attended with the most mischievous effects. And the uneasiness in the minds of the people is increas'd by the appearance of companies of the soldiers posted at Castle-Island, marching through the neighbouring towns in Arms, which to say the least, is an insult to a free people. But the uneasiness is if possible still heightened, by this Call of the Captain General in his military capacity, upon a company of soldiers, to make their appearance in Arms, even before any disorders happen. Surely the least degree of tenderness towards the people, and regard for their lives, would have caus'd a delay of such a Call till the very last extremity; unless the design is to set up a military tyranny on the ruins of a free civil Constitution.

When the stamp-act passed the British parliament, it was proposed to send general HOWARD with an army, to enforce it: But that brave old officer to his immortal honor, said "he would sooner sheath his sword in his own bowels." Me, Me,—in me convertite Ferrum! What shall we say, when a native of a country, shall upon the slightest occasion call for the sword! How much more tenderness would his excellency have shewn to the people, if he had advised his two sons and his other friends who have it in their power, to prevent so fatal a necessity.

I Perceiv'd a piece in Mr. Draper's paper last Thursday, sign'd by you, and sworn to before a Justice, therefore it must be true in all its parts. But pray Sir let me ask you, if you'll deign to be interrogated by one that was born in the same old-fashioned puritannic country that you were—How came you to buy one of the Street-Billets which are never sold? Perhaps you were conscious that you did not deserve the common favours of your townsmen.—How did you make out to give the Boy three half-pence, without a nice calculation and much exchanging of money, as no piece or pieces of money current with us will answer to that sum? Oh Charles, your affecting the language of a foreign country, while you think it looks pretty, exposes you to the scorn of the judicious. Is it likely you should be in close chit-chat with a gentleman, and be so free with him as to give him a three-half-penny billet, and not have the least knowledge of him? It is very lucky that Mr. Peirce did not happen to know the gentleman, else perhaps he might have refresh'd your memory; but perhaps for a three half-penny advertisement you can bring the person to whom you gave the Protest, to appear and give under oath, that you did not know him.——When you have answer'd these questions, and remov'd all difficulties, you'll greatly oblige all lovers of & TRUTH.

PHILADELPHIA, November 3.

Extract of a Letter from Edenton, North-Carolina, Sept 6.

"On the first Day of this instant we had the most violent gale of wind that has been known for a long time; there were 15 sail of vessels at Ocracock bar, mostly outward bound, all of which, except one, were either drove on shore or lost; indeed the greatest part of them are entirely lost, and a number of persons, I me sw near 50, perished; the hardest of the gale was about North."

NEW-YORK, November 4.

Extract of a letter from St. George's Key, dated Honduras Bay August 19, 1773.

"The Garland, in her way hither, called at Port Ombos; at which place she spoke a register ship bound for Old Spain, who gave the following melancholy account, viz. That on the 29th of July last the city of Guatimalla was sunk by an earthquake, and upwards of 30,000 souls perished. It was but a few days before the Garland spoke the ship that she received the express to carry home. As this is the first vessel for America since we received the news, we beg you will have it inserted in your news-papers."

By letters of good authority from England, we are informed that the 14th Regiment, now at St. Augustine, the 16th at Pensacola, and the 52d at Quebec, will be relieved next summer; and that the 4th, or King's own, and the 5th regiments are ordered out for that purpose, but we cannot learn what other corps is to be added to them to compleat the relief.

And we are likewise informed, that for the future the garrisons in the West-Indies will be relieved by regiments doing duty in North-America, which will be always supplied by fresh battalions from Great-Britain & Ireland.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Philadelphia to his Friend in this Town.

"The adventure of the East India Company is the most obnoxious Measure that could have been proposed. I have not met one individual who does not resent the very idea. You may expect that the next account will give you abundant evidence of a universally determined resolution to oppose the scheme. We hope the commissioners appointed for the sales will gratify the public by giving up the commission. But should they not do so, it will only be the means of a little trouble, for the present temper is to compell them not to receive the tea, and to prevent its being landed. We hear this is the spirit of Maryland and New-York. There are many fears respecting Boston. Some give out, and assert that you have imported tea without any reserve and paid the duties: You may depend not an ounce has paid duties in this port.—But whatever may have been done, it is to be hoped the town of Boston will appear on the the present occasion with their usual spirit."—Possibly you have not heard of the reception, the letters from the Virginia and Massachusetts Assemblies received in this province. Our House met in September, a few days before their dissolution, and highly approved the measure proposed (of a joint council) and ordered their Speaker to sign a letter to that purpose at the table, but as they were so soon to dissolve, they did not name a committee of correspondence, but have warmly recommended it to the new house which will meet in a few days."

Messieurs PRINTERS,

AS I have heard it said, that a certain John Malcom was an Epitome of the whole Board of Worshipful Comm[illegible]rs; that they may see what special regard would be paid them, even in a remote part of the Province, were they personally present, I desire you would publish the following Extract of a Letter from Pownalborough, dated November 2, 1773.

"Yesterday about 12 o'Clock, we were saluted with three Cheers at a distance, when approaching the Window to investigate the Cause, we saw about 30 Sailors, surrounding an Object which had more the appearance of the D——l, than any Human being; but in Truth it was the infamous J—N M——M, Esq; who had render'd himself obnoxious to the Sailors by being an Informer. They surrounded Mr. Bradbury's House, where Malcom was, after a stout resistance John Irish was taken, being disarm'd of Sword, Cane, Hat & Wig, he was genteely TAR'D and FEATHER'D; then after marching thro' the Streets an Hour, was dismissed. We hope the great Rogues, will not send a fleet to protect him." vid pa. 441, 448.
